

Successful solutions for shielding electronics

COMPASHIELD®

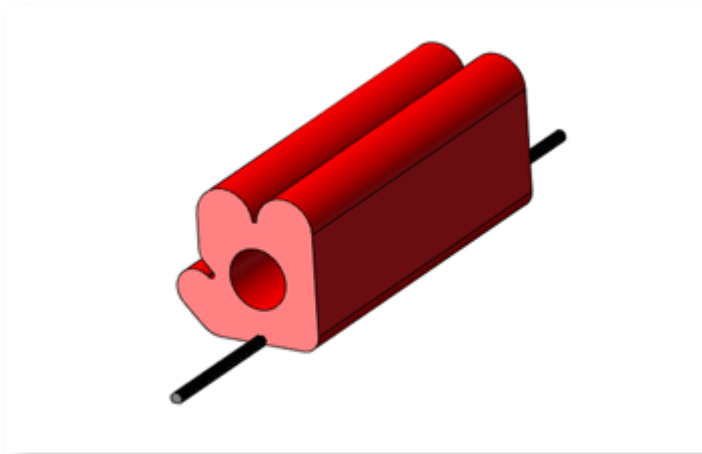

Compashield Anti Stretch: For customers with the highest requirements on sealing

We are proud to present a Nolato invention designed to make specially long precut profiles safer and easier to assemble. The design with the embedded thread reinforcement, in metal, prevents both stretching and shrinking. In this way the length of the gasket is fixed, which makes assembly with high precision easy for the operators, and therefore secure the best sealing effect.

Four great benefits:

- Fast assembly with 100 % precision in length.
- 100 % secured sealing
- Higher output due to lower risk for assembly mistakes.
- Possible to form the gasket with the metal thread.
